

A Revelation of God's Mercy

David Wilkerson (1931-2011) October 22, 2019

David acknowledged God's great mercy when he said, "I have declared Your faithfulness and Your salvation; I have not concealed Your lovingkindness and Your truth from the great assembly" (Psalm 40:10).

David was grateful to God for such great love because he was deeply conscious of his own failings. "My iniquities have overtaken me, so that I am not able to look up" (40:12). No matter how badly people have sinned, God's love still reaches them. He sent his Son as a sacrifice for this very purpose.

"Because your lovingkindness is better than life, my lips shall praise You" (Psalm 63:3). This life is short! Yet God's love will endure forever. A billion years from now, Jesus will be as tender and loving to us as he is now.

The greatest proclamation of his lovingkindness is joyful praise. Stop and think for a moment: God is not mad at you. If you are ready to forsake your sins, you can be forgiven and restored this very moment. The Word says that nothing can come between our Lord and us: no sin, no guilt, no condemning thoughts.

If you really understood how tender He is toward you — how patient, how caring, how ready to forgive and bless — you would not be able to contain yourself. You would shout and praise Him until you had no voice left!

Beloved, Jesus is coming — and we're clean. We're ready to go. You have a loving, tender Father who cares about you. He's bottled every tear you've ever shed. He's seen every need. He's known your every thought — and He loves you!
